

A party with a difference

It might have been a corporate party, hosted by Aditya V Agarwal, but the guests who attended it, were not just limited to the corporate world. That's why when we spotted author Manishankar Mukherjee at this do at a city five-star hotel, he was seen discussing his forthcoming novels meant specially for the Pujas. "With so many mags vying for attention, it's important to do a quality check," said the author. Of course, Rituparna and hubby Sanjay made for a pretty picture. The actor was the cynosure of all eyes and happily fielded questions on how she's going about dozens of projects at hand.
